West Confident of Sidetracking China Question

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia and the Western powers squared off for 12 weeks of bitter fighting today as the U.N. General Assembly gathered again to debate such issues as Korea and the seating of Red China in the world organization.

As the diplomats assembled for the opening this afternoon (2 p.m. EST) of their eighth annual session, Western delegates were confident the 60-nation body would sidetrack the Chinese question for the remainder of this year at least.

They also believed the Assembly would stand pat on its previous recommendation that the Korean peace conference be a two-sided negotiation rather than a round-table of belligerents and neutrals.

There was no indication just when Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky would bring up these two issues, but he was expected to raise them within the first few days of the session.

This afternoon's meeting was scheduled to be devoted to the election of an Assembly president, seven vice presidents and seven committee chairmen, who will constitute the powerful steering committee.

The colorful sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, was reported to have enough support for election as president, but Prince Wan Wailayakon of Thailand still was in the race. Mrs. Pandit had the support of both the Soviet bloc and the leading Western powers, including the United States.

The first fight over the China representation question may come in the credentials committee, which probably will meet Wednesday. That body would report back to the assembly itself, opening the way for a decision.

The United States and Britain already have agreed to back a move to postpone all consideration of the China representation question during 1953. They believe that most countries outside the Soviet bloc will support this.

The seating of Red China is closely linked with the Korean peace conference, since the Peking regime was on of the belligerents in Korea and one of the proposed participants in the peace parity. The United States and some others take the position that no action must be taken until the Chinese Reds prove themselves worthy of a U.N. seat.

The first clash over the Korean question probably will come in the steering committee when that body starts considering the allocation of items to the Assembly's major committees. Although this question is sure to go to the Political Committee, Vishinsky may provoke a debate by demanding priority for it.

The Korean question already is on the Assembly's agenda, so discussion is assured. The United States and its friends are prepared, however, to urge the Assembly to stand by last month's decision that the U.N. should be represented only by countries that fought under the U.N. banner.

Vishinsky is expected to demand approval of Red China's latest proposal that the conference be transformed into a round-table affair, with Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia invited in addition to the belligerents. A similar Soviet proposal was overwhelmingly rejected last month.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and 16 other foreign ministers were among the diplomats listed as heads of their delegations, although some of them were not present for the opening.

Says Many in Clergy Adopted Communism

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. B. Matthews says "thousands of clergy" have adopted the Communist slogan "bring the boys home," and so helped speed U. S. demobilization after World War II.

Matthews contended, in a DuMont television program last night that the rapid dissipation of military strength came about largely "as a result of one of the most comprehensive, intensive and extensive campaigns the Communist party ever put on in the United States."

DEMOS

CHICAGO (AP)—The $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner apparently has cut in half the Democratic National Committee's reported $250,000 deficit. The committee did announce the amount but some 1,600 democrats at $100 a plate would bring in $160,000 to the committee.

The Panama Canal is sometimes considered to mark the division between North and South America.

White Divorcee, Waging Own Segregation Battle, Enrolls in Little Rock Negro College

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A 31-year-old white divorcee who violently opposes racial segregation has enrolled in a Little Rock Negro college.

If Dorothy Martin graduates in 1955, she will be the first white person to get a degree from 86-year-old Philander Smith College, a Methodist institution for Negroes.

Miss Martin, who resumed her maiden name after her divorce—said yesterday she is waging "a one-man crusade against racial segregation."

"I believe in cultural pluralism," she said. "That doesn't mean intermarriage. But the variety the races have to offer are wonderful and beautiful."

"There have to be places where we have to come together — and when we do come together there shouldn't be any segregation."

Miss Martin, whose home is at Mabelvale, a community near Little Rock, said she feared that she might lose her present quarters if she received any publicity.

"My landlady told me she didn't want any publicity about me in the newspapers," she said. "If I'm put out, I don't know where I'll go."

When she enrolled, Miss Martin applied for a reservation in a dormitory, but was told that no space was available.

The former Hendrix College student said she got along fine with her fellow students, adding, "Why shouldn't I?"

But, she said at least one member of her family was opposed to her attendance at the school.

A married sister who lives here appealed to Prosecutor Tom Downie to prevent Miss Martin from entering Philander Smith, but was told that nothing could be done.

Dr. M. LaFayette Harris, president of Philander Smith, described Miss Martin as a quiet, unassuming student who "takes a great interest in her school work."

Dr. Harris said he definitely could not turn down the woman's application for admittance.

Miss Martin is studying social sciences and hopes to enter social work when she graduates.

Battle deaths for American troops in the Korean war averaged about 3.5 per 1,000 per year compared with 8.9 in World War II.

A New Day Brings Its Problems But by the Time the Sun Dies Most of Them Are Solved

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How do you start the day? Each day is handed to us with a fresh cellophane wrapper around it, and you have to tear open the wrapper to get at the new 24-hour candy bar it encloses.

Have you ever noticed at the beginning of some days how you have to make up your mind whether the cellophane is getting stronger—or you are getting weaker? But somehow the package of the day is harder to rip open?

There are so many of us who don't like to let go of today at midnight, just when we get to know it as a friend, and therefore are reluctant to greet tomorrow because it is a fresh stranger; and we have a lazy-like wish not to have to start life all over again.

Czech Secret Police Chief Is Ousted

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—Gen. Karel Bacilek, ruthless head of the Czechoslovak secret police, was ousted from the government today in a drastic shakeup of the Communist regime, the Prague radio disclosed.

The shakeup apparently strengthened the control of President Antonin Zapotocky and Premier Vilam Siroky in Czechoslovakia, most westernized of Soviet satellites.

Six out of ten of the posts of vice premier in the cabinet were eliminated in the reorganization and the holders shifted to other jobs.

Prague said the Czechoslovak national assembly approved the shake-up today at its first full session.

The reorganization follows the pattern of those in other Iron Curtain countries, including Russia, since the death of Josef Stalin.

Most important was the relegation of Bacilek to a minor Communist party job.

Bacilek, 57, gained a reputation for ruthlessness as minister of security, or chief of the secret police.

In his post, he presumably worked closely with Lavrenti P. Beria, former boss of Communist secret police last reported under arrest in Moscow and awaiting trial as a traitor.

New Hurricane Developing in Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The season's fifth hurricane, packing 115 mile per hour winds, developed today in the Atlantic 930 miles east-southeast of Miami.

The tropical storm, named Edna for the fifth letter of the alphabet, was centered about 200 miles north-northwest of San Juan, Puerto Rico, moving in a west-northwest direction.

A Navy hurricane hunting plane found the 115 mile per hour winds north of a well-defined eye about 26 miles in diameter.

Paul Moore, forecaster at the Miami weather bureau, said reports from the plane indicated hurricane Edna might have picked up speed since the 5 a. m. advisory from San Juan which reported movement in a northeasterly direction at 12 to 14 miles per hour.

The 5 a. m. advisory predicted the storm would develop into hurricane force (75 miles per hour or more) during the morning.

At that time, high winds were estimated at 60 to 70 miles per hour and gales were described as extending 125 miles to the east and north.

Gentry Calls Cancer Doctor a 'Fraud'

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry yesterday charged that the 68-year-old director of a hospital that specializes in cancer treatment obtained an Arkansas medical license through "deceit and fraud."

The charge was made in a suit filed in Clay County Circuit Court at Corning against Jacob Sassi Schirmer, director of the Corning Research Hospital.

Gentry said the suit demands that Schirmer "show by what legal right he is exercising the franchise and privilege of the practice of medicine in Arkansas."

The charges were termed "utterly ridiculous" by State Sen. G. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs who is Schirmer's attorney.

Hurst called Schirmer "a brilliant cancer specialist."

He said Schirmer had passed a State Electric Board medical license examination on Nov. 10, 1920 with a grade of 82.

Gentry, however, says the suit charges that Schirmer failed to pass the Board examination.

The following year, the suit says, Schirmer did receive an Arkansas license on the strength of one obnoxious charges that Schirmer told the board that his Connecticut license was destroyed in a fire.

The suit charges that Schirmer misrepresented himself as a licensed medical man in Connecticut, Georgia and Indiana.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Highway Department is preparing to advertise for bids on two highways projects for which right-of-ways have been furnished free to the state.

U.S. Promise of Aid Spurs Red Indochina Push

By LOUIS GUILBERT

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—Communist-led rebels fought today to capture the vital Red River delta before Indochina can receive promised American military aid.

Viet Minh forces began their all-out offensive six weeks ahead of schedule, French high command spokesmen said, and attacked 15 government strongpoints in northern Viet Nam and Laos.

The rebels overwhelmed four French bastions but pulled out without consolidating their gains, occupied the fortifications.

As the Reds attempted moving forward in Viet Nam and Laos, U. S. Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland threatened to cut off American military and economic aid to the tiny Indochinese kingdom of Cambodia.

Knowland, now on a tour, made a brief and apparently unsuccessful trip to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh to get assurances that the tiny nation will stick with its sister Indochinese states.

The California Republican earlier had cancelled his trip to Cambodia because Premier Pen Nouth had made a speech bidding for peace with the Communists.

Fate of 3,000 PWs May Be Told by Reds

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists may answer tomorrow Allied demands for an accounting of more than 3,000 U. N. military personnel, including 944 Americans, believed still in Red captivity.

The Joint Military Armistice Commission scheduled a meeting for 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. EST tonight), its first time since the names of the missing men were turned over with the demand for a prompt accounting.

A U. N. spokesman said there was no way of knowing whether a reply was forthcoming. The Communists, at the last commission meeting, said they would comment later.

In sharp contrast to previous displays of violence, 2,000 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese prisoners were turned over to Indian custody in the Panmunjom neutral zone without incident.

The delivery went off smoothly as the Indian troops—who for six days have checked disturbances by the prisoners—look extra precautions to avoid outbreaks.

They moved Allied and Communist observers farther away from compounds housing the POWs and removed them from stations at some processing centers. The number of newsmen from each side allowed to watch the transfers was cut from 25 to 5 for each side.

The prisoners were part of 8,000 North Korean and 14,700 Chinese POWs who refused repatriation.

Nine North Koreans who had a change of heart after delivery to the Indians were turned over to the Communists for return to Red-run North Korea.

The Communists gave the transfer the full propaganda treatment.

About 75 North Korean and Chinese officers plus a score or more Red correspondents applauded loudly throughout the 10 minute ceremony.

The top Communist delegate to the military armistice commission, Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, questioned the nine on their treatment in Allied captivity.

Eight told him they were beaten, but one acknowledged "they treated us pretty good."

Lee told the nine they will have to "work hard" for Communism.

The transfer was watched by officers of the five nation repatriation commission, which has jurisdiction over the reluctant prisoners.

Tuesday's delivery by the U. N. Command of bally POWs brought the total thus far delivered to the Indians to almost 2,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese, about one-third of the number promised.

Democrats Accuse Ike of Breaking Campaign Pledge to the Farmers

'Sound, Fury' Is Label to Stevenson

DENVER (AP)—The summer white House today labeled Adlai E. Stevenson's criticism of the Eisenhower administration as "Just sound and fury."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made the comment after telling newsmen that President Eisenhower and Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, will confer in Washington sometime soon.

Stevenson will report to Eisenhower on the round-the-world tour which he recently completed. Eisenhower invited Stevenson to come in and see him sometime ago, and Hagerty said the president renewed the invitation when the former Illinois governor returned to this country recently.

Hagerty said Stevenson had accepted the invitation but had no date for the conference has been set. The President plans to end his Colorado vacation Friday or Saturday and fly back to Washington.

Hagerty said the Eisenhower-Stevenson get-together will take place at the White House in Washington.

Meanwhile, Hagerty was asked for comment on Stevenson's Chicago speech last night. The Democratic leader said, among other things, that the Eisenhower administration amounted to "government by postponement."

Judge Brown to Hear Libel Case

HOT SPRINGS (AP)—Circuit Judge Lyle Brown of Hope today was selected to hear the trial of Hot Springs publisher Curtis Copeland on charges of criminal libel.

Judge Brown will exchange circuits with Circuit Judge C. Floyd Huff of Hot Springs, who is the plaintiff in 12 of the 10 counts of libel against Copeland. Judge Huff will preside over the circuit court at Hope.

Copeland will go on trial Sept. 22 on four counts of criminal libel against two Hot Springs Negroes, E. S. Stevenson and the Rev. A. R. Puckett. The trial of the 12 counts involving Judge Huff probably won't be handed down during the September session of court.

The publisher was indicted by a Garland County Grand Jury for articles printed in his weekly newspaper, the "rubdown."

Gets 22 Years for Slaying His Wife

GREENWOOD (AP)—A 56-year-old west Arkansas man was sentenced yesterday after he pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the shotgun slaying of his wife.

Homer Hines of Excelsior entered his plea in Circuit Court here after the charge was reduced from first degree murder.

Hines was accused of shooting his 48-year-old wife, Alice, at their home in Excelsior last Feb. 22 in a quarrel that started when his wife tried to move some furniture out of the house.

Gideons Will Organize in Hope Oct. 25

Two members of the Gideons International, James Timberlake and Ray Robinson, met with ministers of local churches Monday and made arrangements for a Gideon Sunday in Hope.

October 25 has been set aside as the day when Gideon speakers will be in practically every church in the city and surrounding territory. Dedication of Gideon Bibles will be made to hotels and motels in the afternoon and in the future Gideon youth testaments will be placed in schools.

The Gideons International is an association of Christian businessmen, best known for the distribution of Scripture in hotels, hospitals, service posts, prisons, schools and other public places. The Bibles and Testaments distributed are paid for by contributions from the Gideons themselves, from Christian friends, and by freewill offerings received from churches.

Romance in Prison Is Blooming

PITTSBURGH (U)—A prison romance of two convicts who first saw each other in the Allegheny county Workhouse church culminated nearly five months ago in the birth of a child by artificial insemination a prison official disclosed today.

"It's fantastic, like something you wouldn't even find in a book, but it's true," Daniel J. Lappe, chairman of the workhouse board of managers, said.

Lappe said the father of the child was Milo J. Skerjick, 42, a forger, who once took correspondence courses in medicine. The mother was Grace F. Rasmussen, serving an indefinite sentence for shoplifting.

The workhouse board chairman said the two first saw each other in the prison church.

They became better acquainted by slipping each other notes while Skerjick helped deliver food to the women's section of the prison. Later, Lappe said, Skerjick sneaked eyeglasses to the woman, and she became pregnant.

Lappe said the two freely admitted what had happened when questioned separately after the woman's condition became known. They were married about nine months ago, and Skerjick was released from prison shortly thereafter, he said.

Skerjick, back in the workhouse again on another forgery out, charged he was forced into the marriage by prison officials. However, Lappe said both Skerjick and the woman merely had been asked whether they wanted to get married.

"They both were agreeable, and that's all there was to it," Lappe said.

He said Skerjick also acquired another bride during his few months of freedom, and now faces a charge of bigamy.

Control of Congress Seen as Cost

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Democrats accused President Eisenhower today of breaking his 1952 campaign pledges to the farmers and predicted the reaction will cost Republicans control of Congress next year.

Three former secretaries of agriculture—Sen. Anderson (D-MT), Charles F. Brannan and Claude Wickard—spearheaded an assault on GOP farm policies as the Democratic conference here rolled toward a climactic television report to the nation tonight by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 party presidential nominee.

Former President Truman today seconded vigorously Stevenson's biting attack last night on the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies.

Truman declared he feared republican handling of international affairs is alienating U. S. allies.

Stevenson scheduled a "non-partisan" review of his recent world tour tonight in advance of his expected meeting with President Eisenhower soon to go over the former Democratic nominee's conversations with top diplomats of the free world.

The democratic barrage against GOP farm policies was fired at a panel discussion explained by Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Williams cited Eisenhower's campaign promises last year saying the GOP promise was not only to sustain the 90 per cent parity price support program but to work toward helping the farmer obtain full 100 per cent parity. Parity is a standard calculated to give farm-

Growers Are Advised to Hold Cotton

A. E. Slusser, local representative for the Mid-South Cotton Growers Association, is a licensed classifier and has been authorized to class cotton and make full advanced loans for farmers of this area.

Mr. Slusser said he is urging all farmers to place their cotton in the loan instead of selling outright this year. He pointed out that acreage controls may go into effect in 1954 which would probably mean that production would be cut lower than the demand and prices would tend to rise.

Mid-South Cotton Growers Association is located in Memphis with field offices throughout the mid-southern area.

a dismal prospect of a seely, disgruntled, bad-headed future. Yes, a future in which you face old age with paunch thrust bravely forward, one chin up, one chin down—and one chin saved to meet any other directional emergency. It is rather flabby vista.
 "They say (the people who write books on how to live life better) that it is childish to hate to go to sleep and hate to wake up. But for the average person it is such a normal thing. What's wrong with going to bed laughing and waking up with a yawn? Count anything be more normal?"
 When you have finally teased open the wrapper of one day, finally got the nourishment inside, is there a law that requires you to arise early to attack the fresh cellophane wrapper around tomorrow? Perhaps you aren't hungry yet.

The way I like to look at a day is gradually, half an eye at a time. Some people like to leap up and take a brisk cold shower and think of all the golden deeds they are going to accomplish before the day burns out to black.

But so many mornings we awake to meet the same old dragons we never can altogether quell. Such as the crabgrass on our face, we shaved by the previous dawn's early night. Overnight it has sprung up again.

And there are other daily problems. But who can blame one who on some days would rather lie there and wait a while and see if maybe he couldn't grow a dandelion upon his chin, watch it turn into a white puff and blow the seeds of dream around the room? It may never happen, but it is a wonderful way to start a day. You never know at dawn what will flourish by nightfall. To me the best moments of all are those in which you cheat duty between the time the alarm clock rings and the time you finally reach out and shudder warm too and brace it against the cold floor of responsibility.

Emily Dickinson said the best when she wrote in the last century: "A day. A day. Help, help! Another day!"
 It is probably the most honest line in the English language. Everyone has felt that way, one time or another, and then got up and felt grateful for the sun.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two vigorous rallies today sent the Stock Market up smartly from the lows of the year reached yesterday.

Gains ran from 1 and 2 points in significant areas with a few gains even higher. Losses were usually small.

The tape was late on three separate occasions and volume mounted to around three million shares. That's the third highest total of the year.

Prices were pushed ahead vigorously in the first hour with the railroads, motors, steels, and oils out in front of the rally. But thereafter, selling chipped away at the gains until the start of the fifth hour found minus signs holding the whip hand.

Selling reached a high enough pitch then to throw the tape late for the second time. In the midst of the rush, prices began to turn ahead slowly but persistently.

377 American Repatriates Back Home

By G. K. HODENFIELD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Planes, trains, busses and autos sped happiness across the nation today. Another shipload of repatriated prisoners of war had docked and 377 more soldiers were home.

For most it was a quick trip through the processing lines and then home to the folks. For some it was a slight delay at Letterman General Hospital while their medical histories were checked.

None would be long from the arms of his loved ones.

The Marine Phoenix, sixth of the freedom vessels, is a large impersonal thing. But its cargo yesterday was human happiness and heartbreak.

Mrs. Ola Riddle of Richmond, Calif., met the ship. Not in hopes of seeing her husband; she had never been repatriated. But to learn something about him from an Army buddy coming home.

The truth came quickly, brutal in its impact, but merciful in the gentle words of a friend.

"He wandered out of the hut in the middle of winter. He was starving to death. We found him in the snow the next day and we buried him."

Thus did Mrs. Riddle learn that Sgt. Boyle T. Riddle, 38 was dead.

Cpl. Ralph W. Meier of White Lake, S. D., knew "something was up" when he read letters from his wife and mother shortly leaving the ship.

But it was a reporter who broke the news; Meier's wife had remarried, thinking him dead.

His wife Ava, only 15 when he married her shortly before entering the Army, had married Herald Kapsch of Mitchell, S.D., last March. That marriage was annulled when she learned Meier was alive and a captive of the Reds.

Says Mental Tests Errored About Slayer

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (UP) —

Defense counsel for Fred Eugene McManus, 19-year-old former Marine on trial for the first of five confessed murders, said today that records concerning the defendant's mental condition are "in error."

Attorney Marjorie Chacein, in his opening remarks to the jury of ten men and two women trying McManus for the slaying of 10-year-old William A. Braverman of Rochester, N. Y., took exceptional examinations given McManus at Willard State hospital.

"I have a disclosure to reveal now," Chacein told the jury. "We will show that the records at Willard State Hospital were in error, that the examination was not complete, and that the findings were premature before the reports were in."

Chacein then gave a brief description of McManus' life "from his birth as an instrument baby to the time he typed his own confession in Dubuque, Ia."

In contrast to Chacein, who took nearly an hour in his opening remarks, District Attorney Thomas Croucher addressed the jury for only 13 minutes.

He said Braverman's murder was committed with "malice aforethought," citing McManus' action in riding with his victim, before shooting him to death with a .45 revolver and dumping his body in a shallow grave.

The Michigan governor said Secretary of Agriculture Benson had stalled federal help in drought areas to the point "where the ruins came before Benson."

Anderson told about 300 applauding delegates that in the years since 1910 when the Democrats were in power the farmers had received 77 billion dollars more than parity in income. In contrast, he said, during the period of Republican control of the government the farmers' income was 12 billion dollars less than parity.

"If they want full parity, the farmers know that the only place to get it is when the Democrats are in office," Anderson declared.

Asserting that "it's terrible what has happened to the farm markets," Anderson said he believes the farmers would turn out next year to help put Democrats back in control of Congress.

Branan joined with Williams in declaring that Eisenhower had broken campaign pledges of last year.

"They were good pledges and strong assurances to the farmers but they have been repudiated since election day," Branan charged.

He said the Republican administration had put "political appointments" in charge of administering farm programs that previously had been carried out at far less cost by a system of farm committees.

Wickard said the Republican administration had demonstrated in nine months in office that it has "no enthusiasm" for farm price support programs.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, told cheering Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner the Republican administration had made "howling political gestures" abroad, poked its nose in the affairs of other nations, permitted "smears at home" and had cut defense and foreign aid while tossing "threatening words" at the Communists.

The former Illinois governor said the announcement of defense cuts "followed by threatening words in Asia, sounded to me as though the administration was saying to the Communists: 'One false move from you guys and we'll cut the national defense by another billion dollars.'"

New York Election Is Bitter

By EUGENE LEVIN

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City's Democratic voters will give their decision today in their party's bitter mayoral primary contest in 18 years—a contest with national implications.

The Democratic battle pits Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, seeking reelection and backed by the party's so-called conservative faction, against Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner Jr., supported by the so-called liberal or New Deal Wing.

Republican and Liberal party mayoral candidates are unopposed in the primary to choose candidates for city and borough offices.

An estimated half million to a record million persons are expected to vote in the Democratic primary, in which 2,135,000 enrolled Democrats are eligible to participate.

Showers were forecast for early today, but the Weather Bureau predicted clearer and warmer weather about the time the polls open at 2 p.m. (EST). They close at 9 p.m.

Both Impellitteri and Wagner expressed themselves as highly confident as the primary campaign drew to a close. Impellitteri's backers last night forecast a plurality of 175,000 to 200,000, while the Wagner camp foresaw a 230,000 plurality.

Impellitteri, a registered Democrat who won as an independent in 1950, is backed by former Democratic National Chairman James top diplomats of the free nations, bringing the Democratic rally to a close tonight with a televised "non-partisan" report to the nation of his recent world tour.

The White House has said an announcement might be forthcoming later in the week on the projected Eisenhower-Stevenson meeting.

Truman, who previously had voiced some free-swinging criticisms of the "wrecking crew" he said was at work in Washington, applauded Stevenson's sharp attack on Eisenhower foreign policies and beamed when the 1952 nominee praised the "undaunted courage and strong will" he said Truman had displayed in foreign affairs.

Later the former President told this reporter the Republicans can't do anything else but follow the international policies the Democrats had laid down.

Charges GOP Senate Is Wasteful

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) charged today that the Republican-controlled Senate has wasted thousands of dollars in a politically-motivated investigation of his reelection last year.

"What really should be investigated is not who was elected senator, because everyone knows that, but the waste of the taxpayers' dollars," he told reporters.

Chavez, a veteran of many a political battle, has been undergoing some of the toughest moments of his long career since the GOP-controlled Senate elections subcommittee began recounting the ballots in his nip-and-tuck re-election contest last year.

Chavez was confident to the outcome, regardless of what the (Subcommittee) reports says," Chavez said.

Chavez was declared the winner in the bitterly-fought contest, but his Republican opponent, Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war and former ambassador to China, filed a contest and the Senate subcommittee began the investigation.

All told, Chavez said, more than $200,000 has been spent on the investigation. In the closing days of the last session, the senate refused to vote a requested $150,000 to continue the inquiry but agreed to $35,000 — enough to wind up the operations in New Mexico.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Frank A. Barrett (R-Wyo.) is expected to reach some decision on its findings in the next two weeks. Other members are Sens. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr. (D-Mo.) and Charles E. Foster (R-Mich.), one of the three has said publicly what the inquiry has disclosed.

Detroit Studies Sales of "Continental" Studebaker

By a WALL STREET JOURNAL Staff Reporter

DETROIT—Studebaker, which was a big factor in setting early-postwar auto styles, may now be setting the pattern for the next few years.

Its 1946 model, designed with lavish use of glass by Raymond Loewy, was the first completely redesigned postwar car. Further, a major change until its current 1953's: with these it introduced low, rakish "Continental" styling. Also designed by Loewy, the new model cost $27 million to introduce, double the 1946 cost.

A top Detroit stylist, employed by a rival manufacturer, says that the current Studebaker will affect the future looks of more competitive makes than the industry would like to admit.

Sees Way to Get 5,000 Off Welfare
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State welfare director A. J. Moss said today he believed 5,000 persons could be dropped from the state welfare rolls if his staff could get a look at federal income tax returns.
Moss told the Little Rock engineers Club that the welfare department knows—but can't prove—that many of its old age assistance clients are claimed by relatives as "dependents" for income tax purposes even though no support actually contributed.
Under present state law persons who are financially able may be required to support close relatives.
The internal revenue department has refused to permit the income tax returns.
Moss said arkansas needs to supply answers to several other welfare questions which have been brought on by department investigations.
"For instance," Moss said, "we would like to know why the average of persons over 65 years old on the welfare rolls increased from 23 to 26 per cent in Arkansas while decreasing from 23 to 20 per cent nationally."
"When we know the answers to some of these questions, we will know what to do," he said.

30,000 Is Death Toll in Korea

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON (UP) —The official toll of American deaths in the Korean war will rise to more than 30,000 in the months ahead as the Defense Department writes "dead" across the names of thousands now listed as missing in action.

With the prisoner exchange completed, the services now will try to determine the fate of some 7,000 Americans still missing.

Before declaring a missing man to be dead, the services must make a detailed investigation, pleading for all available scraps of information about what happened to him. It will be a time-consuming job. The Army estimates it will be two years before it has officially determined the fate of all its missing in action. By the time the job is complete the Korean death toll, which now stands at 25,804, is expected to top 30,000.

Dear Miss Dix: Linda and I have been married for ten years, during six of which we were very happy. We have six children, and while I realize a family is lots of work for the mother, I did everything I could to help, such as washing dishes, scrubbing floors and sometimes cooking. I worked hard at two jobs to make the money for the nice home we have. My wife has never been an efficient housekeeper and admits this shortcoming. Recently, however, she is becoming downright neglectful of the children. Do you think it's because I've given her too much help and have spoiled her? I'm studying to get a promotion in my job, and at present haven't the time to do much work at home.

ROY J.
Husband Should Help Wife
Answer: Most emphatically, do not think you have spoiled your wife; get that idea out of your head. The mother of six children has so much to do that assistance from her husband isn't going to constitute pampering. Some women are naturally efficient, others must painstakingly acquire household skills and, at that, never approach the competence of their more capable friends. Usually they have other fine qualities for compensation, but you'll never remake a careless housekeeper into a paragon of domesticity. Naturally you are not going to condone flagrant carelessness, or slovenly habits, but your wife apparently doesn't go to this extreme. She is merely a middle-of-the-road housekeeper who finds it more difficult to cope with a large family than other women might. She at least has a large family, and many a quite admirable home manager would be flustered at the prospect of so sizable a brood.

Your job, I gather, is one with exacting requirements; perhaps you could introduce some of its short cuts into your own kitchen. There isn't too much you can do to change your wife's temperament, but by having your home equipped with such labor-saving devices as a washing machine, dishwasher, perhaps even a drier, and an ironer, you would reduce the physical requirements on Linda. It would leave more time for her to devote to the children. Work out a schedule for her, but don't expect it to be kept to the minute. Schedules should be guides, not driving mad-ness, throwing off whatever small responsibilities he has acquired, and you have no redress. Better have your position legalized, or leave.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going out week ends with a boy who works away from home during the week. I like him very much, and am anxious to know what he thinks of me. Would it be all right for me to write and ask him how he feels? I'm 18 and he's 18.
S. E.
Answer: Don't, by any means, force the boy into a declaration of feeling that he's not prepared to make. Give him time.
(Released by Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Dear Miss Dix: I am a woman of 40, divorced three years from a drunkard. I have two children, and when I saw the bad example that was being set for them, I left their father and moved to another state. Since then I have met a man I love, and have a two-year-old girl by him. The man is very fond of us all, but refuses to marry me since his first marriage was unsuccessful. I can see no future for us, but don't like to deprive the children of a father.

T. O.
Answer: You removed your children from one bad example, but I can't see where you are setting such a good one for them now. You have one illegitimate child, and have placed yourself in the unenviable position of having no claim on the man whatsoever. He can pack up and go anytime he pleases, throwing off whatever small responsibilities he has acquired, and you have no redress. Better have your position legalized, or leave.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going out week ends with a boy who works away from home during the week. I like him very much, and am anxious to know what he thinks of me. Would it be all right for me to write and ask him how he feels? I'm 18 and he's 18.
S. E.
Answer: Don't, by any means, force the boy into a declaration of feeling that he's not prepared to make. Give him time.

Thin Porkers Apt to Lose Many Games

(This is the last of a series on prospects of Southwest Conference football teams.)

By CARL BELL

FAYETTEVILLE — The 1953 Arkansas Razorbacks probably will be overpowered by a majority of their 10 tough opponents. But they will give away many games and they're not to let the other team beat itself now and then.

The solid old Tennessee system plays it safe and takes advantage of the breaks. It's back at Arkansas after an absence of three years, during which some disastrous results were obtained from wide-open, pro-styled T football.

Trumble is that new Hazzardback Coach Bowden Wyatt hasn't had enough horses to pull the load in his first year.

Last fall's Arkansas team won only two of 10 games. Some of its better players graduated. Others were lost through scholastic failures and still others were cut off by Wyatt because he didn't feel they really wanted to play football.

Some help came from the 1952 freshman team, but they aren't enough of these good boys and lack experience.

Razorback assets seem to be an adequate to good passing attack; speed and ability in the line; the best physical condition since the 1946 championship and desire.

On the other side of the ledger, Arkansas' line is light—especially at end where the heaviest man weighs 192 pounds; good running backs are scarce and the punting looks woefully weak.

Wyatt, like all other college coaches, also is faced with the problem of teaching the spectators of the 34-point days to play both offense and defense.

The No. 1 backfield includes one of our old regulars, Lamar Melton, the kind of fullback the inventor of the single wing had in mind. Melton, all-conference as a sophomore in 1951 and injured most of last year, runs, passes, and is the team's only good punter.

At fullback will be Henry Moore, a hard-running sophomore from Little Rock. Another soph, Preston Carpenter of Muskogee, Okla., is due to start at blocking back, with Phillip Regnell, a letterman, at wingback.

In addition to being an excellent blocker, Carpenter is a rugged linebacker and runs very much like his brother Lewis, Arkansas' fullback of last year. The blocking back does some ball carrying in Wyatt's single wing, too.

Like Carpenter, Moore was a double duty man in high school. Melton has never played defensive football in college, and Regnell was a defensive specialist.

Capt. Ralph Truitt, a dandy passer, backs up Melton. Johnson, a 150-pounder who was a little ball of fire on defense last year, is likely to do some of the backfielding.

The end, Floyd Sogely and Jerry Bonard, are small but fast and should be good pass receivers. Both are 2-year letter winners. Junior letterman Eddie Bradford and Jim Roth seem to have first call at tackles.

The guards are fast and should do well pulling out to lead interference. Senior Harold Spain and Junior Bud Brooks, both letter men, are the top hands. Brooks, the blazest first string forward at 188, could be one of the Southwest's best linemen.

Jim Cayton, a junior letterman, will get the call at center. Sogely is the only lineman who saw double duty last season.

Reviewing the Razorbacks' accomplishments in spring practice and the first two weeks of fall drills, Wyatt said:

"We've come a long way, but we've got a long way to go. I'm satisfied so far with our physical conditioning, our fundamentals and our passing."

"I'm not concerned this year with our won and lost records. I'll be satisfied if we continue to improve with every game."

Arkansas will open the season against Oklahoma A. & M. in Little Rock the night of Sept. 26, and it'll be one ruckus for after another with neither a breather nor an open date. The Porkers also play Mississippi, Louisiana State, Tulsa and six conference rivals.

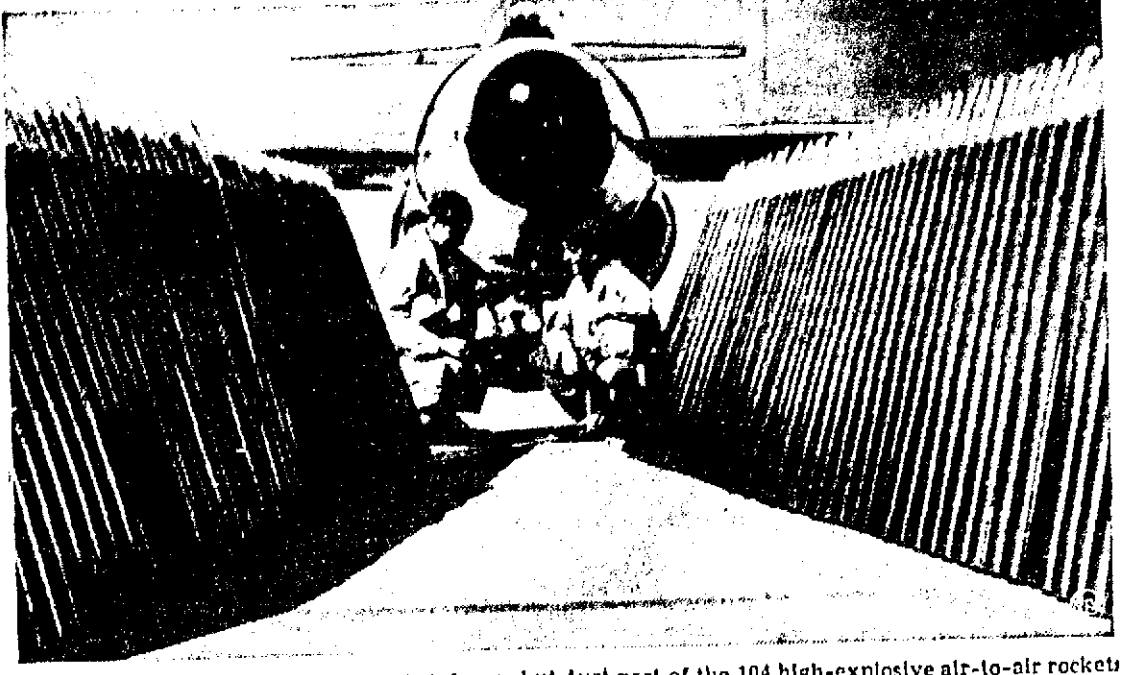

There was no prediction on when Don Miller, no. 1 Southern Methodist fullback, would be able to return to duty. He was lost Saturday when he sustained a serious knee injury. Don Cole, first-string SMU pivot man, was expected to be ready for Georgia Tech Oct. 3, the team physician said.

The Mustangs worked out lightly in 103-degree weather they were preparing for Kansas, went through routine drills yesterday.

TCU Center Dale Brakelberr is expected to miss the Kansas game and fullback Ronald Fraley, still sidelined yesterday, was expected back in uniform today.

At Fayetteville, the Arkansas Razorbacks took it easy as they entertained newspapermen and photographers.

In the dark, the pupil of your eye is 18 times as large as it is in a bright light.

FIRE FENCE—No, it's not a picket fence, but just part of the 104 high-explosive air-to-air rocket with which the new Northrop Scorpion F-80D all-weather interceptor will be armed. The rocket are carried in wing-tip pods and make the F-80D the heaviest armed fighter in the world.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — All day the crowds stand across the street peering through the bus windows at reproductions of pages of the New York Times for the past 100 years. It is an absorbing exhibit, including as it does the headlines and stories which heralded such historic events as the assassination of Abraham Lincoln and a 120-foot airplane crash at Kitty Hawk.

In the collection there is one sports page, dated Oct. 1, 1927, and the lead story relates how on the previous afternoon at Yankee Stadium a burly fellow named George Herman (Babe) Ruth had smashed his fifth homerun of the season into the rightfield bleachers. Almost invariably, that is where the crowd is thickest.

It had been next to the last game of the year for the Yankees of Manager Miller Huggins. They already had scored 100 victories and were a mile in front. Yet 10,000 fans had paid their way in on the chance they would see the Bambino break his own record of 59 homers set six years before.

Left-hander Tom Zachary, one of the best of the era, was Washington's choice to halt the Babe short of his 50-1. "The Times reporter identified in that day of rare bylines says Tom bore down grimly, not wishing the distinction of serving up the record pitch.

So carefully did he work that the Babe walked on his first trip. Each of the next two times he singled. Twice the great man scored, and when he pelted to the plate in the last of the eighth the count was tied at 2-2. Shortstop Mark Koenig was on third, having tripled.

Ruth's first pitch, and missed. The second was a ball. The third, well-aimed, was a smoking fast ball, low and inside. The resplendent "check" was heard throughout the park, and the crowd rose in thunderous acclaim as the pellet streaked almost on a line for the seats.

Curving fast toward the right, it passed about 10 feet inside the foul pole. Muddy Ruel, the Washington catcher, and plate umpire Bill Dineen said it was no more than a foot inside when it landed halfway up the stands. As the Babe trotted around, spiking each bag carefully, Zachary flung his glove to the ground and looked toward his teammates for some sign of consolation. The Times man said Tom found none.

The accident of the sleazebag continued to the end of the inning and swelled him as he trotted out to his place in right field, giving what was described as a snappy military salute every few steps. He had scored three runs and driven in another in what became a 4-2 victory.

The ball was retrieved by a New York resident named Joe Forner, who said he had been a fan 33 years. After the game he won't be the Yankee dressing room and identified himself. The story does not say whether he surrendered his prize at that time.

St. Marks Baptist Church seems to be taking on new life. The crowd was larger and the spirit better than usual Sunday. The church is being painted on the inside. This work is headed by Mrs. Tennessee Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Eva Dennis, Mrs. A. M. Mullin and Mrs. Minnie White. Brother Nash who has been disabled due to ill health for several months, was delighted to be in service. Revival services will begin September 21. The public is cordially invited.

Georgia Tech to Have Two Teams

By MERCER BAILEY

ATLANTA — Two-team football will replace two-platoon football at Georgia Tech this year.

Coach Bobby Dodd said today he believes that is the best answer, for Tech, anyway, to the rules change which ended the era of free substitution and defensive and offensive specialists.

Tech, defending champion in the Southeastern Conference and the second-ranked team in the nation last year, has the talent to make it work. Dodd will have enough good boys for a third unit or for plenty of spot reserve strength.

Dodd has picked for his first string line six players who were defensive experts last year. The line, which averages 197 pounds per man, has Henry Hair and Sam Hensley at end, Roger Frey and Bob Sherman at tackle, Franklin Brooks and Orville Vereen at guard and Larry Morris at center.

Now Everything Is Settled in Series Winner

by BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The record-breaking New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will meet in the world series starting two weeks from tomorrow with the Yankees slightly favored to make it five straight two ways-five over the Dodgers in five meetings, five in a row over the National League.

Carey Casey Stengel, who re-wrote the record book by managing the Yankees to five consecutive pennants, says he thinks he has a good chance of continued success in the fall classic.

"This is a real good club with real good players," Casey said as he relaxed after yesterday's flag clinching 8-5 victory over Cleveland.

"They tell me somebody has made us the favorite in the series, and that's mighty nice of them. The way we've been playing, if we can keep it up, I can't see why we shouldn't be considered as having a great chance.

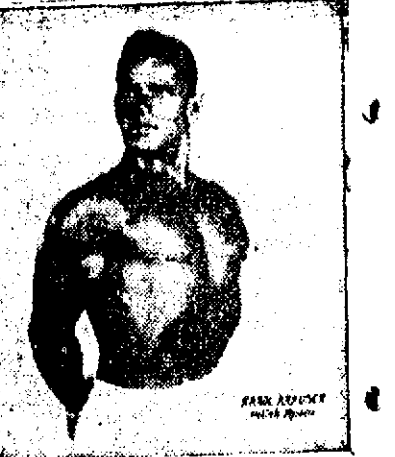

"But I don't think those fellows (the Dodgers) will be scared of the Yankees. They've been in the series before."

Casey said the Yankees will have to get good pitching to win but he pointed out that he was not awed by Brooklyn's tremendous hitting. He allowed as how his club could hit home runs in Yankee Stadium and they probably could hit them in smaller ballparks, too.

Stengel admitted he was glad the tension of the pennant race was over.

In the American League flag chase this season the Yankees held first place all but nine days. They were ahead by as much as 11½ games in late June and never out of the lead after May 11.

The Dodgers didn't start quite so early in the National League but they grabbed first place for keeps on June 28 and nailed down

Kit said slowly, "You were talking to Samuel Pedrick just now, weren't you, Anita? You do know him. I wasn't eavesdropping. I couldn't help overhearing you."

Anita said, "Yes, I know Sam Pedrick."

"You've been paying Pedrick money."

Anita nodded. "That's right, I've been paying Pedrick money. Why do you suppose I'm always broke? Oliver left me plenty . . ."

"Why don't you go to the police?" Kit asked.

Anita said, "Why didn't you go to the police about Libby? Then the sharpness went out of her. 'I can't, Kit,' she whispered. 'I would just as soon kill myself and have done with it.'"

Kit was frightened. "Don't talk like that," she cried.

"How else can I talk?" Anita demanded fiercely. She broke off there, got hold of herself. "I can't tell you anything more, Kit. I've sworn never to tell anyone."

Kit had no desire to hear the reason why Anita was paying blackmail to Pedrick. She said so. "But there are things I do want to know."

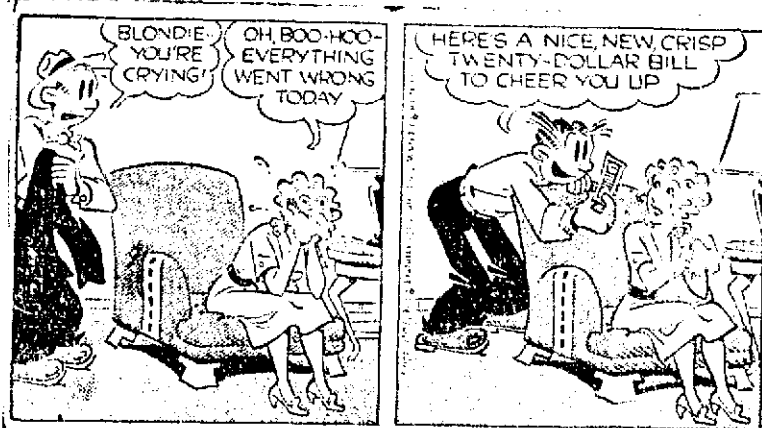

Anita said, "I'll answer you if I can," and did. Pedrick had come to see her on the previous Wednesday night, it was Eleanor Oaks' yellow convertible that Libby had been parked outside their gate.

"But he had nothing to do with taking Libby away, Kit. I can assure you of that," she spoke with the confidence of absolute certainty.

"I suppose it was about money Pedrick came to see you?" Kit said.

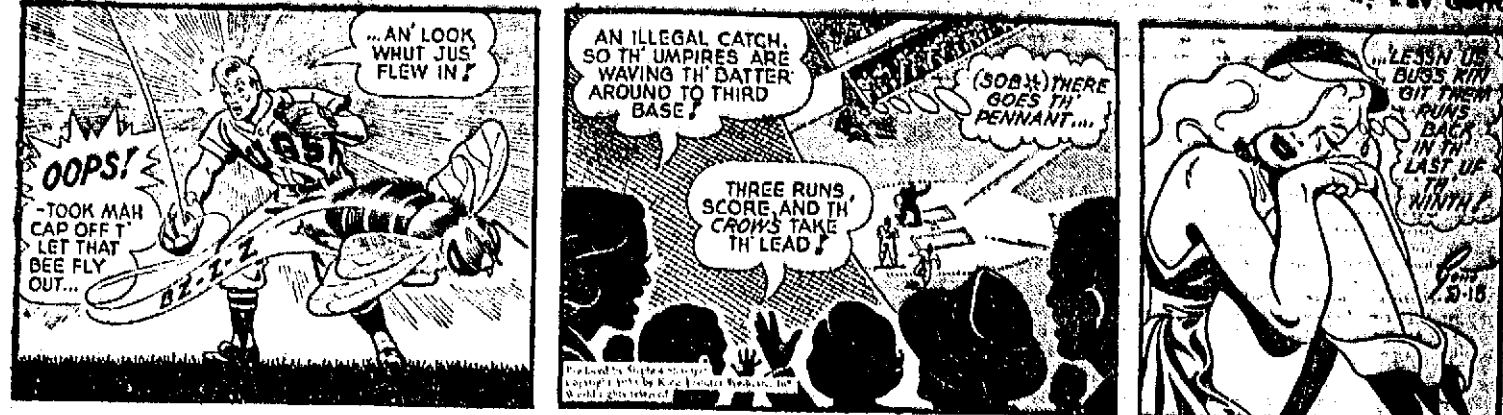

"Yes, about money."

Youth Kills His Playmate of 16

TRUMAN, Ark.—A shotgun blast killed a 16-year-old boy near here early last night. Officers took a 15-year-old playmate into custody for questioning.

Police said R. C. Faulkner related that he and James Williams were "scuffling and playing" when a shotgun neither knew was loaded discharged accidentally.

Williams said he would question Faulkner at length later today. Faulkner's mother, Paul Thompson, said Williams was killed at the home of S. W. Atkinson, Faulkner's grandfather, in the McCornick community near Truman.

He said Faulkner's mother, Mrs. Robert C. Faulkner, was "somewhere in the north."

Williams was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, also of near Truman.

Man Has Plenty of Dependents

JASPER, Ark.—When Jasper visited vade Campbell of nearby Vendor, Ark., was faced with the possibility of being recalled to active duty recently, he had no trouble proving that he had plenty of dependents. Three sets of twins were born in 3 1/2 years.

The oldest twins, four-year-old daughters, were born to Mrs. Campbell while her husband was in Germany with the armed forces. The Campbells now also have a son and a daughter, two years old, and another set of twin girls, one year old.

PRANKSTERS PEPPER CEILING—Teen-agers have forgotten the goldfish-swallowing fad which swept the U. S. a few years back, but they've started another one which is giving restaurant owners a headache. The new fad requires some drinking straws, chocolate syrup and a bit of wind power. Tom Taylor, left, and John Wasson of Ludington, Mich., show how easily a restaurant ceiling can be "redecored" by dipping the straw's tissue casing into syrup and shooting it like a blowgun up into the air.

Says Commies Rushing Air Bases in Korea

SEOUL (UP)—Lt. Gen. Samuel Anderson, commander of the Fifth Air Force, said today the Communists are rushing construction of new air bases in North Korea including one capable of handling jets, only 16 miles from the former battlefield.

Anderson said, however, there was no indication the Reds were violating the armistice agreement by moving jet planes or equipment into Korea. Construction of air fields is permitted under the truce terms.

The three-star general said his pilots have sighted one airstrip under construction at Kumsan, 16 miles northwest of the old battle line on the Ongjin peninsula in Western Korea.

"They are building a strip of concrete," Anderson said in an exclusive interview. "Our people estimate the enemy strip to be about 5,000 by 500 feet. I think it can handle MIGs all right."

Anderson said "We are constantly on guard against a surprise attack," but added that "I am not a damned bit afraid of Communist air."

He said his interceptors, the F-86 Sabre jets, "scramble" daily in exercises designed to keep alert against possible surprise attack. "We are not going to break the armistice," he said "in the event of an attack, during the first 24 hours we would have our hands full, but we would be fighting on even terms or better within a day. "Our people are working hard. They are no more anxious to get caught on the ground than I am." Anderson was asked if he believed the pattern of air fighting would change if the Communists and the United Nations resumed the war. He replied, "I certainly hope so. I believe it will be a crime not to."

Anderson referred to the order from the Pentagon which restrained U. N. planes from attacking the communists in Manchuria.

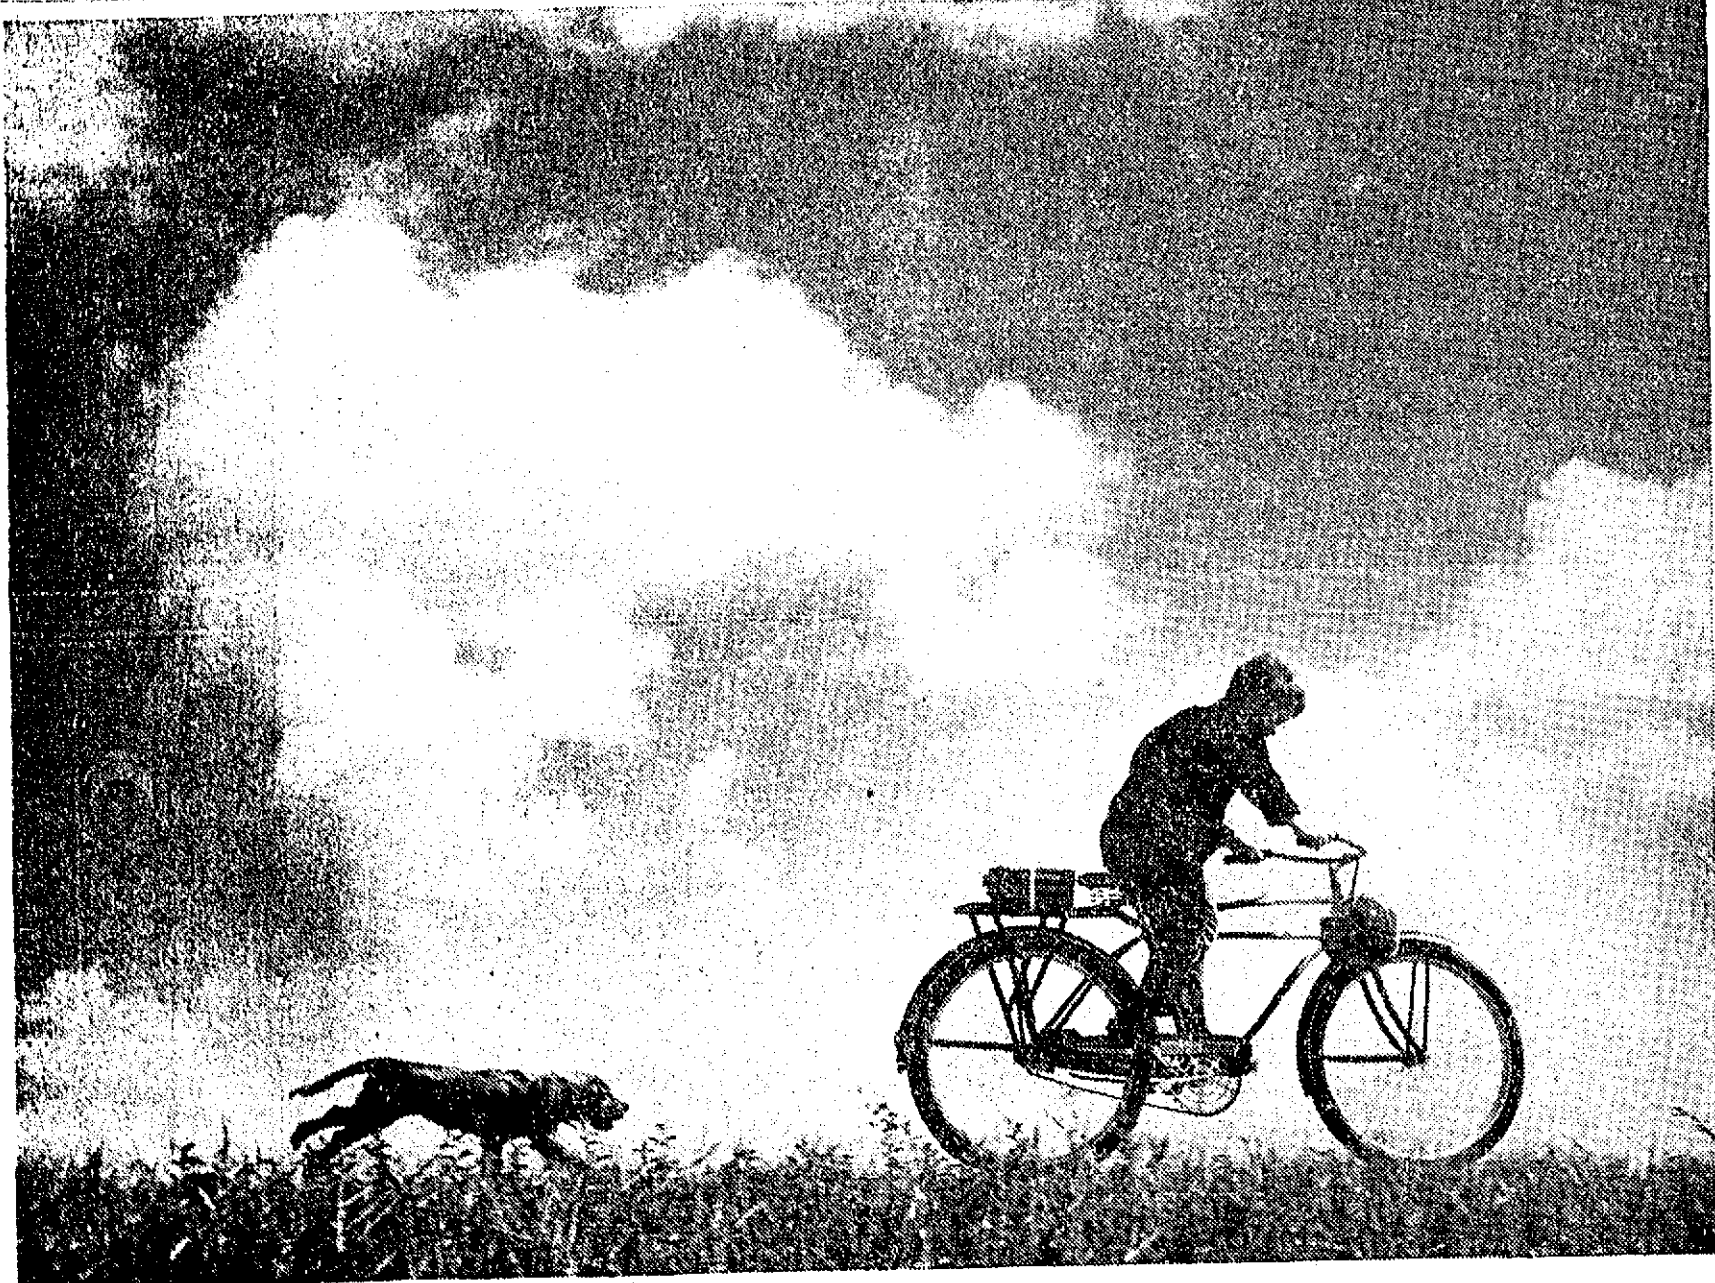

"Personally," he said "I think you could go up there any night and knock out all the airfields you wanted to—especially those in the Antung area. We know those. There are cities up there and well identified landmarks."

Anderson said a Communist air force commander planning a sneak attack would probably seriously consider "the heavy bomb" of the United States strategic air arm in Japan and Okinawa capable of immediate retaliation.
